A NARROW ESCAPE.

A CONVICT'S ATTEMPT TO BLOW UP THE PENITENTIARY.

No Law to be Found Providing a Contingent Fund for the Penitentiary-Deputies Making Charges Against Marshal Carroll-The Raleigh Postofficeship-The Atlantic Rallroad Injuction Case.

Messenger Bureau, Park Hotel,

Raleigh, N. C., June 7. Judge Purnell will go to Asheville June 14th to hold a term of the United States circuit court for Judge Simonton, and try civil cases, as the latter judge requests.

The penitentiary authorities say they are in great need of funds; that the boilers are worn out and must be replaced; also that the horses at the farms, or some of them, are nearly dead and others must be bought. The state 'treasurer says there is no act giving the penitentiary $25,000 contingent fund. The superintendent says h a bill passed, and J. C. L. Harris, actorney for the penitentiary board, makes the same positive declaration.

It is said that a convict engineer at tempted to blow up the boilers at the penitentiary, in order to kill one official, but that another convict saw the weighted safety-valve, took off the weights and prevented destruction and death just in time.

A Conductor Attacked by Negroes.

Richmond, Va., June 7 .- At Spout Springs, on the Norfolk and Western railroad, this evening, Conductor Robinson, of the west bound passenger train, had a difficulty with a negro, which left the negro with a broken head. The negro, Charles Staham, boarded the train at West Appomatand though he had a second class teket, insisted on riding in a first class car. The conductor ordered him out at Spout Springs. The negro cursed the conductor and showed fight, whereupon the conductor struck him a terrific blow over the head, causing the blood to flow freely. A general fight ensued, in which the negro was considerably worsted. Finally, several negroes coming to Staham's assistance, Charles Schnibben and himself took he picked up a large stone, and the conductor drew a pistol which put an end to the difficulty. Several pistols were drawn by trainmen and passen. it to be only twenty pounds. He said gers, which probably prevented the plucky conductor from being ill treated by the crowd of blacks.

Miss Katie Gilliam played the wedding marches. To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march the ushers, Messrs. Willie L. Paul and Alexander Register, led the way down the aisle, followed by the bride's maids, Misses Lucy Pait, Corinne Slaughter, Carrie Savage and Agnes Clark. Next came the maid of honor, Miss Sallie McKinnon, and Mr. James A. Wooten, best man. The couple then presented themselves before the Rev. C. W. Smith, the popular and beloved pastor of Elizabethtown circuit, and he beautifully performed the marriage service.

After the ceremony had been pronounced the bridal party retired while the bridal chorus from Lohengrin pealed from the organ. The bride wore a becoming dress made of cream satin and carried a beautiful bouquet of white bride roses.

The happy couple were recipients o numerous and beautiful presents.
